Brief Introduction:

Tesamorelin is a synthetic peptide consisting of all 44 amino acids of hGRF with the addition of a trans-3-Hexenoic acid group.

Tesamorelin (formerly known as TH9507) is a synthetic growth hormone releasing factor that stimulates the pituitary gland in the brain to secrete growth hormone; This indirect approach seems to maintain more stable, natural levels, such as cJC-1295 DAC. Clinical trials have shown that sarmorelin significantly reduces abdominal fat and has fewer side effects than human growth hormone itself, Tesamorelin is a human growth hormone-releasing factor (GRF) analog. It works by stimulating the pituitary gland to release growth hormone (GH). This causes the breakdown of excess stomach fat.

Application:

Tesamorelin has been shown to reduce lipodystrophy in HIV-infected individuals. Lipodystrophy is a condition that causes changes in placement of body fat, including wasting and fat accumulation, and changes in metabolism. Similar to Tesamorelin is Sermorelin, which may be taken with GHRP-6 in clinical trials, that also promotes HGH production and possible fat loss. Individuals with lipodystrophy may develop excess fat most notably around the liver, stomach, and other abdominal organs (visceral body fat).

Function:

1. Treatment of HIV-related abdominal fat accumulation
