Brief Introduction:

Ipamorelin (or NNC 26-0161) belongs to regulatory peptides because it is GH releasing protein; Its chain is quite short and only consists of five amino acids. Its molecular mass/weight is 711.86 and its molecular formula is C38H49N9O5. Ipamorelin was synthesized as innovative and novelty mimetic of ghrelin therefore it possesses ability to enhance gastric motility.

Benefits of using Ipamorelin include increased fat-burning rate, maintenance of lean muscle tissue, recovery and strengthening of joints, connective tissue and bone mass, as well as other anti-aging benefits associated with GH therapy, such as improved skin and hair quality. When the secretion of natural GH is inhibited by long-term use of exogenous GH, it can also be used to protect and improve the level of autocrine GH.

How does it Work?

After an athlete administers Ipamorelin, a selective pulse is sent that stimulates the hypothalamus/pituitary to release GH. This pulse can endure for approximately three hours after injection. Once the GH pulse is sent, the cells go directly to the muscle to support development while staying clear of any possible bone or cartilage growth. This is good for Ipamorelin users, as long term usage will effect lean body muscle growth without the possibility of experiencing any bone or cartilage deformities. The same cannot be said for synthetic HGH users, who experience pronounced side effect in swelling joints and even in some cases Carpel Tunnel. Ipamorelin will increase cell synthesis, elevate secretion levels of insulin from pancreatic tissue, and increase ghrelin in the stomach - which helps release GH and control hunger.

Function:

1. Increase fat burning rate
2. Maintain lean muscle tissue
3. Restores and strengthens joints, connective tissue, and bone mass
4. Improve skin and hair quality
5. Protect and improve the level of autocrine GH
