Brief Introduction:

One of the primary roles of Myristoyl Pentapeptide-17 is an antioxidant. Like all antioxidants, Myristoyl Pentapeptide-17 role is to protect the skin from damaging free radicals, which are a result of too much sun exposure or encountering environmental pollutants. These free radicals cause harm to individual skin cells, but their real danger is that they can cause premature aging. Free radicals cause can encourage skin cells to start multiplying rapidly and unchecked. Not only protects skin cells from antioxidants, but it also helps to neutralize them, so that they can be removed. The face can begin to be healthy again. This makes it one of the most beneficial antioxidants on the market
