Brief Introduction:

Ipamorelin, also known as NNC-26-0161, is a ghrelin mimetic. Ipamorelin counteracts glucocorticoid-induced decrease in bone formation of adult rats. Ipamorelin may ameliorate the symptoms in patients with POI. Ipamorelin accelerates gastric emptying in a rodent model of postoperative ileus through the stimulation of gastric contractility by activating a ghrelin receptor-mediated mechanism involving cholinergic excitatory neurons.

The benefits of using Ipamorelin include increasing fat burning rate, maintaining lean muscle tissue, restoring and strengthening joint, connective tissue and bone mass, and other anti-aging benefits associated with GH treatment, such as improved skin and hair quality.
