Discription of White Powder Hgh 191aa

- 1.The human body is made of anterior pituitary growth hormone (hGH). Growth hormone (GH) contains a hormone secreted by eosinophilic granule-secreting cells and consists of a 191 amino acid peptide.
2. This product is secreted by recombinant e genotype. When using E. coli expression technology to produce recombinant human growth hormone (rhGH), the amino acid content and sequence of growth hormone are completely identical to those of human.
3. This product is Escherichia coli complex (ec with us: oli). Synthesized from prohormones. Prohormones are naturally occurring growth hormones in bacteria linked to signal peptides. Hormones divide in the bacterial cell wall, and the final product, exactly like natural growth hormone, enters the intermembrane space of the cell wall before being released, and then destroys the cell wall to collect, with only the intact cell wall, ensuring that the final product is virtually free of bacterial protein contamination.
