Brief Introduction of Tesamorelin For Sale

Tesamorelin is a growth hormone releasing factor (GHRF) peptide. In other words, it is produced with growth hormone releasing factor. The GHRF leads to increased metabolic rate, reduction in belly fat, and efficient use of energy. It stimulates the release of growth hormone by stimulating the Pituitary Gland in the brain. Research shows that Tesamorelin can reduce abdominal fat more than human growth hormone, and it does so with minimal side effects. The peptide can also reduce abdominal fat in NON-HIV infected individuals, and reduce lipodystrophy in HIV patients.

Tesamorelin increases growth hormone uniquely and physiologically. Clinical studies have also shown its role in reducing abdominal fat more than human growth hormone, with minimal side effects. The peptide may also reduce abdominal fat in NON-HIV infected individuals, and reduce lipodystrophy in HIV patients.

As Tesamorelin induces growth hormone, there is also an increase in cognitive function in the elderly, a study noted. Participants showed impressive scores on cognitive tests as compared to the placebo group.
