TB-500 is a synthetic peptide very similar in structure and function to Thymosin Beta-4, which is a natural regenerative protein. Thymosin beta 4 plays a role in the regulation of actin polymerization. It is also involved in cell proliferation, migration, and differentiation. TB-500 has also been shown to enhance tissue repair and protect against injury.

Thymosin-beta4, better known as TB-500, is an extremely interesting peptide. Due to its extremely fast general and wound healing effect, it is a kind of healing booster for athletes after an injury to be back on the ball as soon as possible, which can be a huge advantage especially in strength training after surgery or the like.

Studies have revealed that TB-500 greatly improves the healing and recovery time of muscle, tendon, ligament, joint, and bone injuries. It also reduces inflammation and improves flexibility, especially in connective tissues.
