Tb-500 is a synthetic peptide that is structurally and functionally very similar to thymosin β -4, which is a naturally occurring regenerative protein. Thymosin β 4 plays a role in the regulation of actin polymerization. It is also involved in cell proliferation, migration, and differentiation. Tb-500 has also been shown to enhance tissue repair and protection from injury.

Thymosin- β 4, better known as TB-500, is a very interesting peptide. Due to its extremely fast general healing and wound healing effects, it is a healing booster for athletes to return to the ball as soon as possible after injury, which can be a huge advantage, especially in strength training after surgery or similar.

Studies have shown that TB-500 can greatly improve the healing and recovery time of muscle, tendon, ligament, joint, and bone injuries. It also reduces inflammation and improves flexibility, especially in connective tissues.
