What is Frag Hgh

HGH Fragment 176-191 is also known as HGH Frag 176-191 or simply HGH Frag.

HGH Frag is a piece of HGH molecule, where 176-191 number refers to truncated amino acids from the end tail of HGH molecule. Firstly, it's been discovered that isolating 177-191 amino acids from HGH brings better outcomes in burning fat. Then scientists added tyrosine to the molecule to make it more stable. That is why HGH Frag has become 176-191.

HGH is known for its ability to improve metabolism, restore muscles and bone strength and reduce aging symptoms. Many people use HGH therapy to improve their health, appearance, and well-being. Why would someone need fragmented HGH?

HGH Fragment 176-191 increases metabolism without affecting blood sugar levels. It may be convenient for people with blood sugar issues. Scientists also created HGH Frag to stimulate lipolysis without boosting muscle growth which is preferable to those who want to burn extra fat only.

HGH Frag 176-191 has no such side effects as hypertension, nausea, and heart disease compared to other supplements for fat burning.

Before and After Results of Frag Hgh

An HGH Fragment can help you lose weight but we want to remind you that HGH Fragment 176-191 is only a supplement and can be effective only when you adhere to your weight loss strategy. If you keep your diet and exercise regularly you'll see the first results during the first month of taking HGH Frag. People who tried HGH Frag for weight loss observe the most significant results after three months of injections together with well-balanced nourishment and sports.

Remember that HGH Frag doesn't influence blood sugar levels and you may experience food cravings in the process. HGH Frag boosts your metabolism which leads to faster calories burn, so your body will signal you to consume more food. If you want to reach your goal and have the body composition you've always dreamed of, stick to your diet and learn to manage hunger. Try to develop a diet plan to help you avoid breakdowns and overeating.
