What is BPC 157 For Sale

BPC-157 (or, Body Protective Compound 157) is a peptide chain consisting of 15 amino acids that has been researched for its extremely high level of biological healing activity. It is derived from a protective protein found in the stomach and can be administered orally, subcutaneously, intramuscularly, or intranasally.

BPC 157 is a type of peptide therapy that has been recently studied to produce systemic effects on both the brain and the gut, and repair those systems. It also has protective effects extending beyond the stomach and intestinal tract. It has been shown to benefit: ulcers in the stomach, intestinal damage such as fistulas and inflammatory disorders, bone and joint healing and growth rates, and organ damage. It also has influences on the brain.

Let's rewind to high school science class for a minute. BPC 157 is a short peptide chain, and like all peptides, it is composed of small building molecules called amino acids. Peptides, simply put, are a string of amino acids. An amino acid may be powerful on its own but once linked together in a chain-like sequence to form a peptide, they're vital. Given that peptides send messages to cells with instructions regarding what those cells should become they're pretty important when it comes to the functioning of our body.

BPC stands for Body Protective Compound, and that is exactly its function. It was originally discovered to be a protective peptide within our gut and to have a healing effect in both our upper and lower GI tract.

It should be understood that BPC 157 is only a small part of the whole BPC protein, but it is essential for its functionality because it is where binding spots for enzymes are located. The structure of this stable gastric pentadecapeptide consists of 15 amino acids, and looks a little something like this: Gly-Glu-Pro-Pro-Pro-Gly-Lys-Pro-Ala-Asp-Asp-Ala-Gly-Leu-Val.
