Product describe Peptide Ipamorelin

The Ipamorelin Acetate is known to be a Growth Hormone Releasing Peptide (GHRP), which stimulates the pituitary gland to release natural growth hormones (GH). This bioidentical hormone therapy is safe and effective, allowing you to feel and look younger. Using this peptide therapy can also reverse any body deterioration due to aging.

It is a pentapeptide that is composed of five amino acids, having a biological half-life of 2 hours after it has been administered to the body. This peptide is widely known to suppress somatostatin or the growth inhibiting hormone.

Ipamorelin also acts as a ghrelin or a growth hormone secretagogue receptor agonist, which means this peptide gets to mimic the actions of the natural hormone ghrelin in the body. This process triggers human growth hormone production that is released from the pituitary gland.
