Product Introduction Of Selank

Selank is a peptide developed in Russia that is known for its ability to reduce anxiety. Selank is not currently prescribed in the United States, but there is interest in its potential to help with anxiety, depression, and PTSD. The Institute of Molecular Genetics of the Russian Academy of Science first created Selank in the late 1990s.

Selank has been shown to be effective in reducing anxiety and somatic symptoms associated with it, as well as having mild analgesic properties. Selank is non-toxic and does not form a dependence, making it safe even at high doses.

How Does Selank Work?

Selank is a peptide that works by increasing levels of serotonin in the brain. It has been shown to be helpful in reducing anxiety and improving mood. Selank is a non-addictive, safe and legal alternative to other anxiety medications. Selank is a bioregulator peptide that was first discovered in the 1990s. It has been shown to have a variety of benefits, including reducing anxiety, promoting cognitive function, and modulating the immune system. Selank works by binding to GABA receptors and affecting neurotransmitters such as serotonin and dopamine.

It also alters gene expression in neuronal cells, which can affect neuro-transmitting properties. Selank is also known to promote the expression of Brain Derived Neurotrophic Factor (BDNF), which are proteins that play an important role in neurogenesis and neuronal survival. Selank is also known as an antagonist of the 5-HT1A serotonin receptor, meaning it blocks serotonin from binding to the receptor. This inhibition of serotonin binding can produce antidepressant effects.
