What Is Melanotan 2 Tanning

Melanotan II (MT2) is a synthetic analogue of the peptide hormone  $\alpha$ -melanocyte-stimulating hormone ( $\alpha$ -MSH).

Melanotan II acts as a non-selective agonist of the melanocortin receptors MC1, MC3, MC4, and MC5. In universe studies it is shown to the extent that melanotan II produces melanogenesis, this is thought to be activation of the MC1 receptor, whereas its research data in rats documented sexual induced effects are thought to be related to its ability to activate the MC4 receptor (through the MC3 is thought to possible also be involved).

A study in universe study showed that in rats, MT2 administration of  $\alpha$ -MSH caused sexual arousal, and included potential sunless tanning agents in further universe study research. Further MT2 studies ceased in 2000 and a synthesized version developed by the name bremelanotide (PT-141), a likely metabolite of Melanotan 2 with a slightly different hydroxyl group.

Benefits of Melanotan 2 Tanning

Lasting Tan: Even if the dosage is stopped, a warm sun-kissed tan can last for months at a time without any exposure to the sun. Conversely, tans developed naturally fade in around a months time.

Flexibility of Use: Able to take a small loading dose with continued dosing until desired skin pigmentation is achieved. Once achieved only need to dose once every couple of weeks to maintain the same pigment.

Reduced exposure to sunlight (UV rays): Melanotan still needs exposure to sunlight to be effective. However, it will allow the user a significant reduction in time to develop the desired tan.
