Testosterone Isocaproate is bounded with a fatty acid or an ester which causes a delay in its release in the body. As told earlier that it has got a more active life which means it will stay in the body for a longer period of time and therefore to get it in the form of an injection once or at max twice a week in enough. Testosterone Isocaproate is not found individually but it is contained in some other drugs such as in Sustanon 250 and also in Omnadren.
