Product Introduction Of Selank

The effect of neo heptapeptide Selank on microcirculation in rats was studied. Selank (Thr-Lys-Pro-Arg-Pro-Gly-Pro) is a novel synthetic anxiolytic drug that has a significant antiulcer effect and promotes experimental ulcer healing. The effect of peptides on gastric blood flow was observed by in situ microscopy using the hydrogenation removal method and Selank on mesenteric lymphatic contraction. Selank can not affect basal gastric blood flow, but normalization of blood flow reduced by indomethacin can be achieved. The effect of Selank on lymphatic contractility has shown that its low concentration (10⁻¹² -10⁻¹⁴ M) increases the rate of lymphatic contraction and increases the frequency of lymphatic contraction, indicating increased lymphatic flow. High doses of peptide (10⁻⁶ -10⁻¹⁰ M) also increased the systolic amplitude but decreased their frequency. Maintaining adequate blood flow and lymphatic contraction can be one of the mechanisms of Selank's antiulcericity.

Use Of Selank

Although Selank is classified as an anti-schizophrenic drug, its use is far beyond the anxiety of anxiety and improves cognitive function. Selank may find several useful aspects: stress relief, depression relief, reversal of reversal, emotional stability of people's mood improvement, and insomnia to stop. Of course, Selank is an anti-schizophrenia that can also be used to treat anxiety in different forms of anxiety, such as GA D (generalized anxiety disorder), SA D (social anxiety disorder), panic disorder, and non-phobia. The As a speculation, Selank can help improve mental sharpness, reduce mental fatigue, improve the focus of the ability to improve the cognitive function of sleep defects, enhance memory. To provide these effects, there is usually no associated negative side effects such as physical dependence, mental addiction and decreased athletic ability. In fact, Selank has largely no side effects, and most researchers claim that it is a "no side effect" complex. This makes Selank more suitable for long-term use.

Benefit Of Selank

One of the first benefits that most users can see with Selank is to stabilize and improve overall mood. It leads to feelings and happiness.

Even more interesting is that this effect is not calm, but calm. At the same time, most users can feel the improvement of psychological clarity and overall enhanced cognitive function.

Any person suffering from a known condition for alopecia may benefit from such an inducer. Leprosy is a condition that can not experience happiness.

Bupropion is usually produced by the use of amphetamine or other opioid-like drugs that are associated with the operation of the brain's entertainment center. Selank has been shown to help restore the normal functioning of this brain, although it should only be seen as part of a broader treatment program.

From a purely push point of view, there are other benefits. This includes helping to reduce the various forms of anxiety disorders such as generalized anxiety disorder, social anxiety disorder, and even panic disorder. It also enhances the ability to concentrate, increase mental sharpness, reduce mental fatigue, increase memory and learning ability, and even improve cognitive function in sleep disorders.
