Product Synopsis:

CJC-1295 is a synthetic GHRH analogue consisting of 30 amino acids. It has been found to be very effective in increasing growth hormone secretion and IGF-1 without negatively affecting the plasticity of GH secretion.

CJC-1295 is a peptide hormone that acts similarly to growth hormone-releasing hormone (GHRH). CJC-1295 increases the production of growth hormone as well as IGF-1 - which has anabolic effects in adults.

By increasing these two hormones, it enhances the production of protein in the body, which in turn promotes muscle mass. It also induces lipolysis - the breakdown of fatty tissue, promotes recovery from injury, increases bone density and also reduces ageing factors such as skin wrinkles.

It also stimulates cell growth, so it can be used to treat withered tissues or organs.
