What is Glow Peptide?

GLOW peptide consists of BPC, TB, and GHK-Cu, a synergistic combination that has been studied for its role in cellular repair, tissue regeneration, and homeostasis in vivo. BPC is a synthetic decapeptide that has been observed to support angiogenesis and cellular signaling pathways related to tissue integrity. Cu (a copper-binding tripeptide) contributes to cell migration, extracellular matrix remodeling, and antioxidant defense mechanisms, potentially enhancing the regenerative capacity of biological systems.

How GLOW Hybrid Peptides Work?

GLOW Hybrid Peptides combine the tissue regenerating and anti-inflammatory properties of BPC-157 and TB-500 with the rejuvenating and collagen-boosting benefits of GHK-CU to create a synergistic effect. Together, these peptides

- Stimulate tissue repair and muscle recovery
- Promote angiogenesis (new blood vessel formation) to improve circulation and healing
- Enhance collagen and elastin production for firmer, more youthful skin
- Reduce inflammation and oxidative stress
- Improve overall skin texture and appearance
- Support intestinal health and reduce inflammation-related issues
