Product Description

Gepon Peptide (Research Grade)

Gepon is a synthetic tetradecapeptide supplied as a high-purity lyophilized powder for laboratory research applications. It is manufactured under strict quality standards and undergoes analytical testing to ensure high purity, identity, and batch-to-batch consistency.

This product is intended for qualified researchers conducting in vitro and other laboratory investigations. Each batch is produced using advanced peptide synthesis technology and is accompanied by quality control documentation, including HPLC and Mass Spectrometry analysis where applicable.
